4	The library needs to become more strict on people using the computers that aren't doing assignments, I see plenty of people on Facebook and watching videos and it's not fair on the many people standing waiting to get some actual work done	12/3/2014 2:34 AM
5	People are leaving their items at unoccupied computers. People are left waiting.	12/3/2014 2:19 AM

8	The library computers should be for study only! It is very frustrating while you are queueing and waiting for a computer, while people with their headphones plugged in are watching videos online, when we have assignments to do and no computer! Also its very annoying that so many computers are reserved and abandoned, people hold them with their belongings and go and do whatever, its way longer than the recommended 15 minutes. If this was monitored more closely, we might have a better chance of getting a computer.	12/2/2014 10:52 AM
9	Library is great, but a silent reading room with sofas would be awesome.	12/2/2014 8:23 AM

11	library staff should notify students that a computer has been booked ten minutes before the booking	12/2/2014 7:13 AM
12	For the size of the college. A library should have a building of its own. I know that its not financially possible at this moment in time but in the future I think it could be looked at. I heard that in UL, the library facilities there was not of a sufficient standard and after student protesting they got funding from the minister for education	12/2/2014 4:00 AM
13	when you book a PC have a message that will flash up saying you have five minutes left to log off befire the computer shuts down and actually make it shut down. The warning meaasge at the start when you turn on the computer is useless because after 15 inutes of being idel the computer doesn't shut down, which just encourgaes people to leave them ther while they go get coffee or something to eat	12/2/2014 3:38 AM

28	DKIT needs more student computers. I am in the Department of Applied Science where we have 18 PCs in the computer lab which have to be shared by hundreds of students. Therefore, we are very dependent on the library. However, the computer situation at the moment is shocking. Additionally, the entire quiet study room upstairs in the library has 2 seats where you can plug in a laptop. Therefore, if you bring your laptop to the library you will probably end up sitting downstairs, where it is way too manic to get anything done.	12/1/2014 11:45 AM
