1	I use the library a lot, due to group work. The amount of pressure placed on students involved in group work is vastly intensified by the imposed whisper policy. The policy of booking a room for group work has not been given any thought whatsoever has anyone bothered to consider the ratio of students to available rooms.	2/6/2015 12:45 AM
2	Too noisey, And crap facilities, Yous cant even provide a working scanner for students, I mean this is supposed to be 2015, and ye have a scanner that must be 25 years old, Also your staplers are shocking,	2/5/2015 6:11 AM

15	I avoid the library like the plague, has anyone who makes the rules for DKiT library ever had the privalidge of entering Trinity, or Maynooth librarys? You could hear a pin drop. Sorry if I sound harsh, I have always found the library staff beyond helpful,and do appreciate they have limited resources available when dealing with the issue of noisy idiots, but unfortunately its full, wall to wall with inconsiderate people, who make it an unusable workspace for me.	2/2/2015 1:55 PM
16	In the past I have found the library too noisy even in silent study area. I felt that staff weren't enforcing same & did complain at the time with no effect. Unless people are there to genuinely work whether individually or in group should find elsewhere to socialise!	2/2/2015 11:52 AM

56	No need, civil engineering course, all in the notes. Go to print only.	1/27/2015 3:22 AM
57	Extremely limited space	1/27/2015 3:02 AM

58	I come to the library very rarely. Only when necessary to get a book or a dvd for study. I find it distracting as students usually talk, eat, and often it is possible to hear their music from eyearphones as it's so loud. People typing a lot on the computers and even in the study room upstairs it is stuffy and there is little or no fresh air. In addition people make noise by crisps packets and constant coughing and chatting. The library environment and facilities to just relax or focus on something is unsuitable for me. I prefer to chose isolated quite classrooms in the engineering departmet for instance, - there is alwaysability to open a window for fresh air and even though it may get noisy from people talking outside in the corridor, if there is no class going on, one can study, there arent as many distractions as in the library.	1/27/2015 2:21 AM
59	Im always in the library i love it there :)	1/27/2015 2:07 AM

70	Noisy and rowdy	1/26/2015 11:28 AM
71	The lack of space. I get really nervous waiting and can't say it's my turn if someone takes a seat before me so I just go to the coffee dock in the nursing building	1/26/2015 11:28 AM
72	Noisy and rowdy can't stand it	1/26/2015 11:23 AM

78	only really needed to go this year because I have more theory work and the research methods books are uselful. I usually spend 99% of my time in the Carrolls building as most resoures i need are available online. I would use the library mostly for dvd's, not related o course work	1/26/2015 8:27 AM
79	There's never enough room in the library and some staff are not friendly of useful	1/26/2015 7:49 AM
80	Always here	1/26/2015 7:25 AM
81	can sometimes be far too loud to study, people using individual quiet study area for group work and not being told to stop during random staff inspections.	1/26/2015 7:09 AM
82	Because we are always given out to about talking to much while we're working on group project which requires group communication and cannot be done through whispering	1/26/2015 7:02 AM

93	Normally study at home but would use own laptop in library to complete assignments and projects	1/26/2015 3:47 AM
94	Too loud. I would go find an empty room go study in which was not ideal because the room wasnt always free so concentration was broken every hour.	1/26/2015 3:43 AM
95	The library is a bit small for the amount of students in the college. It is hard to find a computer a lot of the time, especially during exams. If I am ever going to the library it will be first thing in the morning. It is usually the only time I can find a free computer without waiting about.	1/26/2015 3:42 AM
